The Nineteen-Sixty

ILLIO

Being a Record of the year 1910-11 at the University of Illinois,
Published by the Class of 1912 during its Junior year.
Champaign-Urbana
Illinois.

THE 1912
ILLIO

Dedication

To Arthur Raymond Hall
and Justa Morris
Lindgren, coaches of the 1910
thousand-per-cent football team, whose self-sacrificing efforts for their alma mater have been rewarded with well-deserved success, this volume,
the 1912 Illio, is dedicated.

The Coaches

ARTHUR R. HALL, '01, has been head coach of the Varsity football team since 1904, when the graduate coaching system was adopted. His appointment to that position came as a result of the remarkable record which he had made as a player while in the University. For four years, from 1897 to 1900, he was a member of the football eleven, playing the positions of halfback and end. In his senior year he was captain, and the following season, the fall of 1901, he was assistant coach of the team which won the historic 24 to 0 victory over Chicago.

JUSTA M. LINDGREN, '02, became assistant coach in 1904, taking the position after two years' experience as coach of the team at Cornell College, Iowa. Lindy's athletic record while a student in the University was an enviable one. He played football during the four years of his college course, from 1898 to 1901, his positions being halfback, end, and right tackle. He holds the distinction of being captain of the team of the season of 1901, when such stars as Jimmy Cook, Louie Lowenthal, Jake Stahl, and Charles Fairweather helped to bring about that memorable defeat of the Maroons.

Foreword

IN behalf of the Class of 1912, we present this, the eighteenth volume of the ILLIO, to the faculty, students, and alumni of the University. We trust that those who read this book may find therein much that is pleasing and of value. ¶ We have endeavored in this volume to make an arrangement of the contents that should be logical and coherent. We have expanded some departments, and curtailed others. We hope that in those matters in which we have departed from precedent we have brought about an improvement. ¶ That the result, as a whole, is not perfect, we are well aware. Believing, however, that our readers are as considerate of our errors as they are appreciative of our accomplishments, we present to them this book, the product of our best endeavor.

JOHN AUGUSTUS OCKERSON, '73, civil engineer, of St. Louis, Missouri, since his graduation has followed the profession of engineering, chiefly in river and harbor improvements, hydraulic work, railroading, and mining. He has been for the past twelve years a member of the Mississippi River Commission, and is now engineer in charge of the restoration of the Colorado River to its original bed in the Mexican territory adjacent to the international boundary near Yuma, Arizona.

JOHN A. OCKERSON, '73

JAMES R. MANN, '76

JAMES ROBERT MANN, '76, congressman, of Chicago, has been engaged in the practice of law since his graduation from Union College of Law in 1881. He has been a member of the Congress of the United States since 1897, serving as representative from the first and second Illinois districts. Previous to his entrance into national public life, Mr. Mann held several offices of local importance, being for a number of years an alderman of the city of Chicago, and also master in chancery of the superior court in the same city.

CLARENCE HOWARD BLACKALL, '77, architect, of Boston, Massachusetts, is best known as the architect of the Auditorium at the University of Illinois, but he has other notable accomplishments to his credit. He designed and erected the first steel frame building in Boston, and was the architect of Tremont Temple, the Colonial Theatre, and other structures in that city. He is a graduate of the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris, and has practiced his profession in New York, Colorado Springs, and Boston, being located in the latter city since 1882.

HENRY MAHAN BEARDSLEY, '79, lawyer, of Kansas City, Missouri, is noted for his political, religious, and philanthropic activities in that city. Since 1898 he has served the municipality as a member of the upper house of the Kansas City Common Council, as president of the upper house, as president of the Board of Public Works, and as mayor of the city. He is president of the Kansas City Bar Association, of the Kansas City Young Men's Christian Association, and holds offices in numerous religious and philanthropic organizations, both local and national. He is the senior member of the law firm of Beardsley, Gregory, and Kirshner.

HENRY M. BEARDSLEY, '79

LORADO TAFT, '79

LORADO TAFT, '79, sculptor, of Chicago, is the greatest representative of the University in the field of fine arts. Since 1886 he has been identified with the Art Institute of Chicago, at first as an instructor in modeling, but in recent years as a lecturer on art. He is also associated with the University of Chicago extension department, in which he holds the position of professorial lecturer. In recognition of his ability as a sculptor, Mr. Taft has received a number of medals and prizes, among which are a medal awarded by the Ecole des Beaux Arts, and others by the World's Columbian, Pan-American, and Louisiana Purchase expositions.

CHARLES HENRY DENNIS, '81, journalist, of Chicago, who is now associate editor of the Chicago Daily News, has been connected with that publication the greater part of the time since his graduation from the University. From 1882 to 1891 he held the positions of reporter, dramatic critic, assistant city editor, editorial writer, and city editor of the Daily News. For ten years (1891 to 1901) he was managing editor of the Chicago Record, and upon his retirement from that publication he became chief editorial writer and manager of the foreign news service of the Daily News. He retained this position until 1907, when he became associate editor of the paper.

CHARLES H. DENNIS, '81

WILLIAM AMES HEATH, '83, banker, of Chicago, is now president and director of the Hibernian Banking Association, of that city. His early experience in the banking business was gained in the Champaign National Bank, with which he was connected from 1883 to 1902, occupying in succession the positions of clerk, assistant cashier, cashier, and director. From 1902, to 1904 he was state bank examiner of Illinois, and subsequently became vice-president and director of the Hibernian Banking Association. His steady and unflinching good judgment in financial matters has placed him among the leaders of finance in the western money centers.

WILLIAM A. HEATH, '83

SAMUEL W. STRATTON, '84

SAMUEL WESLEY STRATTON, '84, physicist, of Washington, has been director of the Bureau of Standards since 1901, and in this position has won recognition for his abilities in the field of physics. Honorary doctor's degrees have been conferred upon him by the University of Illinois, the University of Western Pennsylvania, and the University of Cambridge, England; and in 1909 he received the French title of Chevalier Legion d'Honneur. Previous to his becoming director of the Bureau of Standards, Dr. Stratton gained eminence as an educator and scientific investigator, being professor of physics at the University of Illinois and later at the University of Chicago.

LINCOLN BUSH, '88, civil engineer, of New York City, now chief engineer of the Delaware, Lackawanna, and Western Railroad, has become notable through his extraordinary achievements in railway location and construction. For the past twenty-two years he has held executive positions with a number of railways and engineering firms. Since 1899 he has been connected with the Delaware, Lackawanna, and Western Railroad, having been advanced from bridge engineer to principal assistant engineer, and finally to chief engineer of the system. Mr. Bush is the inventor of a new method of constructing concrete and pile footings, of a new roadbed, and of an improved trainshed.

First Annual Home-Coming

I

THUMP! With a dull thud a battered suit-case bumped to the station platform, and flopped to its side. Its owner, a gray-haired man, whose cheeks glowed with enthusiasm and expectation, paused for a moment, and then, spying a familiar figure near by, rushed up to an old comrade he had known in the bygone college days. With his right he clutched his friend's outstretched hand, and putting his left upon the other's shoulder, the two old grads stood in the midst of the traffic and throng, smiling and patting each other, regardless of the rumbling trucks, the excited, hurrying students, and the noisy locomotives.

With such scenes as these, the first annual Home-Coming was ushered in on October 14 and 15. "Up from the meadows rich with corn," from the villages, towns, cities, states—from everywhere—the Illini of old came trooping into Champaign and Urbana. How their faces beamed with pleasure to be once more in the midst of old-time scenes and friends! Only with much effort and a high regard for the dignity of age and position could they suppress an "Oskee-wow-wow."

The undergraduates added to the enthusiasm of the occasion with their welcomes, their bubbling spirits, and their unrestrained shouts of joy. From the moment trains arrived there was some form of entertainment intended to renew youthful pleasures and to show the alumni the meaning of Illinois good fellowship.

It is safe to say that the event which pleased most and which will remain longest in the memory of all Illini was the football victory over Chicago. Our beloved opponents from the lake city—our conquerors for nine successive years—were forced to yield the trophy to Captain Butzer's heroes. Following the Alumni-Varsity baseball game on Friday, the freshmen defeated the sophomores in the annual class scrap.

With the gigantic mass-meeting before the Chicago game, the class reunions, the initiations and banquets, and the interclass track meet, the first annual Home-Coming was the grandest success the University has ever known.

Senior Class History

SINCE September, 1907, when the Class of 1911 first entered the university, it has stood for the best in scholarship, the highest athletic achievements, and the most beneficial in all student activities. Its originality was first shown in its sophomore year by the inauguration of the pushball contest instead of the color rush. Then, too, the Class of 1911 was the first to have, in its junior and senior years, distinctive styles of caps and hats for the girls.

Throughout its course 1911 has been prominent in class athletics, and many of the best-known athletes in the University are among its members. The names of Lyons, Herrick, Butzer, Rohrer, Bernstein, Graham, Burns, Henry, and the Twists are well known by everyone.

In oratory, in dramatics, in things of general interest the class has always been well represented. It was during its career that the University became interested in the project of a student union. Later on came the Illinois Union comic opera, "The Maid of the Moon," which was managed principally by seniors. The whole class has shown an unusual esprit de corps, which has been clearly strengthened by the practice of requiring that all class officers be nominated in open meeting.

Not neglecting its scholarship because of its many outside interests, the class has kept its standard high and its record well toward the top. Thus, as 1911 passes from the campus, it leaves a memory of loyalty and accomplishment which any class would be proud to claim.

Junior Class History

BEHOLD the freshman! He and a thousand like him, of all sorts and conditions, countrified or blatant, wandering in hesitant groups down Green or John streets under the September sun, staring vacantly at Greek-lettered doors, admiringly at the Library tower or Auditorium dome, enviously at hobnobbing upperclassmen. They are oppressed by the noise and bustle of the school; every vista of the campus is strange and foreign; the Association handbook is their constant companion. At nightfall they immure themselves in their rooming-houses, and stir out no more. Registration passes, and in the class meeting they encounter Clark, in the gymnasium Hana, and on the drill-field the Major. When hazing and rushing are over, they are finally incorporated into the university, and in earnest of the fact begin to take their cuts, and to call the billiard-hall keepers by their first names.

The Class of 1912 entered 1500 strong, perfected a serviceable political organization; and if in initiating the pushball contest as an interclass struggle it went down in defeat, the defeat was a martyrdom. The class debate brought revenge, and in athletics we at least always got honorable mention.

Behold the sophomore! He carries his head higher than any other being on the campus. He is glib of college cant and slang; he gives girl friends the high handshake; he nicknames the professors; he is debonair, boisterous, patronizing. He affects a dress that would madden the aboriginal savage; he is lavish with the luxuries of life, although the extravagance entails restrictions on the necessities.

In its second year the class began auspiciously by winning the pushball contest. It took the class debate, held a most successful Cotillion, and had three champion athletic teams. Its great men, lagging in nothing, forged into that glorious land where the band plays all day long.

Behold the final product! The junior, free from all the eccentricities of the underclassman, not yet troubled by apprehension of the cold world, is at his best. He has learned all the wordly wisdom of his time, and is not oppressed by too much of the bookish variety. The momentum of two years is with him; he is no longer lost in blissful self-contemplation.

In this, its third year, the Class of 1912 has held in right worthy style the crowning social event of the year, the Prom; has won the football championship; has marshaled its energies toward other athletic events yet to come; and in fitting climax lays this book before its friends. With another month, pausing to look about it, in dignity it will gather up its robes for the final year.

Sophomore Class History

VERILY the ways of the world are strange. Where is the all-wise prophet who, one short year ago, could have predicted the transformation to take place in the Class of 1913? Gone are the short-horn nurslings who a year ago were so tenderly bathed in the Bone-yard's crystal basin, gone from Tommy's cradle to take their position as guardians of another generation of tow-headed and freckled-faced youngsters. They were quick to learn. Shinola boots gave way to patent pumps, mutton-tallow to Pompeiian Cream, and tangled locks to Kandy's waves.

Even as appearances changed, so did spirit. The hesitancy of the infant was replaced by the vigor of the adult. In all fields of activity our classmen made records for long-distance plunges. Some became Greek followers, only to beat rugs and clean cuspidors on Saturday mornings; some showered La Vogues at the shrine of Fie Fie; and some became knights of the royal order of Pan-Pellmellism.

A few found recuperation (and that wasn't all) at a Mahomet health resort. Fisher slipped on ice, but fell easy, and everyone was good natured. Indeed, good nature is one of the characteristics of the Class of 1913, as was evidenced at the sophomore stag and the Cotillion, both huge successes. Rather than mistreat the parental Class of 1912, they allowed them to triumph in the class football series, and pitying the Class of 1911, which had hitherto won no championship at all, permitted them to win in basketball, so that they might have one example of true human kindness always in mind.

Characterized, then, by good nature, filled with energy, overcharged with ability, the Class of 1913 has but begun its triumphant career—a career without bounds or end, in which, above all, the idea of Illinois loyalty reigns paramount as the guiding spirit.

Freshman Class History

SEPTEMBER 19, 1910: "Say, Mister, will you tell me the way to the University."

"Well, I'll be blamed if it isn't one of them confounded, ignorant freshmen again! Sonny, you better buy a guide-book. I'll tell you this time for nothin'. See that car down there. Well, you get on that car, and tell the conductor where you want to go, and he will put you right."

"Thank you very much."

(Aside to friend) "That lad is a gentleman, all right. Say, this bunch of freshmen are a pretty likely looking lot, ain't they. See that fellow there? He looks as though he might be half-way intelligent. I bet they make that sophomore class hump some. I'm goin' to keep a watch on the papers, and see if I ain't right."

OCTOBER 16, 1910: "Hello, Bill, have you heard the latest?"

"About that pushball game? You bet I have! Say, Jim, I went to see that game. And I sure hollered for '14. Them boys are great. Was you there, Bill?"

"Sure thing I was. The boss didn't want me to lay off, but I told him I'd have to see that game if I lost my job. And then, you know, the boss he went too."

"You don't tell me. I thought he never went to anything like that."

"He had never been on Illinois Field before, but you ought to have seen him when the game was over. He was just like a kid. Even went down close where he could get a better look at them freshmen. Then he followed them along Wright Street. And say, Jim, you ought to have heard him tell how the sophs got a freshie and tried to duck him in the Boneyard. But the freshman was a fighter, and put three of them in. The boss sure was tickled over it."

DECEMBER 15, 1910: "Jim, oh, Jim, come here a minute. What do you suppose them freshmen have been up to now?"

"I couldn't begin to guess."

"Well, you know, the first thing they did was to get up a freshman stag, something that a freshman class ain't done for I don't know how long. The last time they tried it they had an awful time with the sophs. I remember it right well, 'cause I was sworn in a special cop that night."

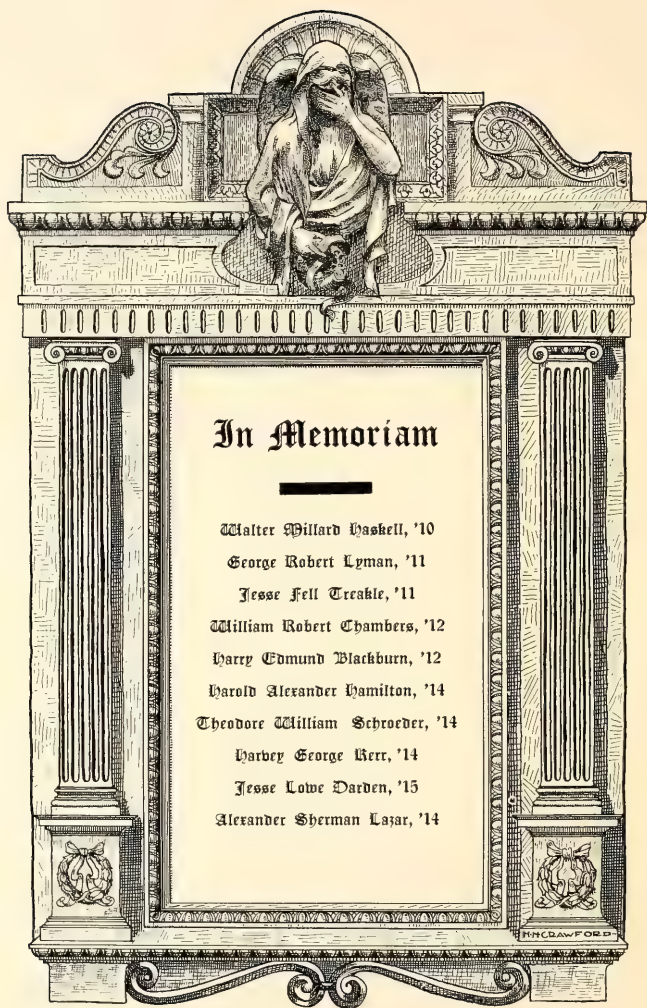

"Well, they sure are a nervy bunch."

"And that wasn't all they did. At that stag they decided they would get some of these short stockin' caps to wear durin' the winter. You see, them little green lids are kind of chilly, and the lads took the sensible notion to keep warm. You see they ain't afraid of showin' their colors. Looks like they're proud of 'em."

"Well, I'll be blowed!"

"Yes, sir, them lads do beat anything I ever heard of. What won't they do next! We'll see something great from them before they get through."

"Yes, you bet! Everybody says they're a pretty good class, and no mistake. You know, I have a hunch that even the sophs think they are all O. K."

FOOTBALL

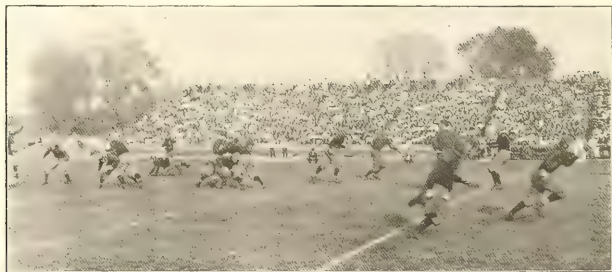

Review of 1910 Football Season

AS EARLY as September 12, candidates appeared for place on the 1910 football team. The fellows were all anxious to learn how to apply the "expurgated" rules to actual football. It was not until Artie and Lindy began handing out plays on September 19, however, that we realized the possibilities of the new game.

Only nine of the eighteen "I" men of the year before were back, and two of these had a little score to settle with the faculty before they could claim eligibility. In the meantime, new men were being developed from the freshman team of the year before, and on October 1, we won the opening game of the season from Millikin University by a score of 13 to 0. By October 8th, the men were better acquainted, knew each other's weak and strong points, and decisively beat Drake University 29 to 0.

During the next week the team received the best coaching that the alumni could give. Such men as Gardiner, Cook, Lowenthal, Sinnock, Van Hook and Wham came back to help the team "hang it on Chicago" on October 15. And we did, by the score of 3 to 0. "Maroon luck" was very evident in this game. Three times the Illini were within a few yards of the goal, and were prevented from crossing the line merely because of some technical point which only a referee and umpire combined could detect. It was in the second quarter that Otto Seiler with his 45-yard drop-kick gave the Home-Coming crowd an opportunity to feel a little more confident. The score does not indicate the relative strength of the two teams, and football critics say that an 18 or 20 to 0 score would show about the correct comparison.

During the next two weeks the team was put through new formations for the Purdue game at Lafayette. The Boilermakers were beaten by the small score of 11 points. We used only about half a dozen different plays, for Indiana scouts were present and anxious to learn all they could about the Illinois style of play.

SCENE IN CHICAGO GAME

The curiosity of the Hoosiers was satisfied a week later, when the Illini beat Jimmy Sheldon's team with another one of Seiler's drop-kicks. The score was 3 to 0. In this contest Dillon starred, playing possibly his best game of the year. Several times Indiana men got away with a double pass, but were stopped before reaching the goal line. Gill, of Indiana, had been touted as a great kicker of field goals, but the Illini defense was too much for him, and all his attempts were blocked. Of all the Conference games, that with Indiana was the most feared, and by winning from the Hoosiers we demonstrated our right to be as equally qualified as Minnesota to claim the Conference championship.

The Northwestern contest afforded an opportunity to perfect some of our plays for the Syracuse game. The Methodists were completely bewildered with our formations, passes, and tricks, and the score of 27 to 0 was the result.

On November 19 all we needed to have a perfect score for the season was a victory over the heavy Syracuse team. The Easterners constituted a much better team than the previous year. Waite was the most-feared man of Tad Jones' aggregation. He had won more than one game for Syracuse with his long-distance drop-kicks. The suspense was more than awful in several instances when he dropped back for a kick, but when at last Seiler secured his third drop-kick of the year that decided a game, the Illini fought like demons, holding in check the opposing attack at all stages of the game.

To try to pick out any one man or group of men that made the team victorious is utterly foolish. Each man went into the game to win. Whether he was in for two minutes or for the four quarters, he felt that he was a part of the machine designed and operated by two Illinois men, coaches Hall and Lindgren.

Our only regret is that we could not have played the strong Minnesota team, and settled beyond a doubt the question as to which team was the rightful claimant of the Conference championship. Next year Minnesota will play Illinois here on November 25, and at that time the followers of football will be able to judge as to the relative merits of the two teams.

CAPTAIN BUTZER, two years' choice for All-Western guard, and one of the best linemen in collegiate football, has a record that will remain brilliant at Illinois for some time. Butzer's ability to carry the ball for end runs or smashing line plays has made his playing on the offense a factor in every game. Butzer was fortunate to lead one of the most successful elevens that Illinois has had for years, and the remarkable record of the team reflects not a little upon his ability as a leader.

Chester Corwin Roberts

FOR SEVERAL DAYS after football practice began in the fall, Bull Roberts watched the squad from the bleachers; then he put on a suit to help coach; at last, before he himself realized it, he was in the Millikin game with the same old pep and scrap, despite the decree of the physicians that his illness would keep him out of the game the entire season. Roberts was the logical choice for captain to succeed Butzer, and under Bull's guidance next season the Illini are expected to accomplish great things.

Otto Edwin Seiler

THE HONOR of winning three games in a season by a drop-kick in each contest is exceedingly rare.

To Otto Seiler, however, belongs this distinction, for his boot registered victories over Chicago, Indiana, and Syracuse. Otto was not only a valuable asset to the team as a kicker, but his great speed enabled him to carry the ball for gains, and also to form effective interference in completing plays.

John Frank Twist

ANOTHER ALL-WESTERN PLAYER has represented Illinois for the last time on the football field. Heavy Twist was given the responsible position of center this year. Seldom, if ever, was a fumble caused by a mistake by Twist, for his passes were always accurate and well-timed. Many were the holes opened in the opponent's line, especially when the quarterback carried the ball straight through center.

"I never get any help on my lessons."—IKE DIXON.

Otto Springe

RED SPRINGE, with his lanky build, was always a menace to the opposing team. He is ideally built for a tackle, standing over six feet in height, and weighing 185 pounds. Besides, he possesses a football head, and his ability for fast charging, coupled with all sorts of threats, made the opposing backfield afraid to try the right side of the Illinois line for a gain. His position as lineman was one that ordinary observers fail to notice, or to give the just amount of credit. But no one ever failed to see where Springe was, for he always came up from the bottom looking for more.

Thomas Edwin Lyons

RIGHT END this year was taken care of by one of the best players in the West. Although not chosen as an All-Western end by everyone, Ed was surpassed by few. Under the new rules an end has to be, not only fast, but heavy and heady as well. Lyons was one of these, and time and again he would smash the opposing interference, and yet have the runner by a leg or an ankle. This ability made him a most valuable man. As an offensive player, he had the happy faculty of boxing in his opponent, and getting away to receive a forward pass, or else protect the halfback on a cross buck.

Louis Stewart Bernstein

ANY CLOSE FOLLOWER of the past season's football in the West will say that Bernie was the fastest small halfback in the Conference. Being always ready for a sure game by a cross buck, he was called on more than once to finish the distance for a first down. His "never-give-up" spirit made him a man who had to be watched at all stages of the game. Bernie's basketball experience made him a valuable man at the receiving end of a forward pass. This was possibly his strongest point in offense. At defense he was always at the bottom of the play with his arms around the man with the ball.

John Riley Merriman

VERY FEW UNIVERSITIES have one good quarter-back. In this respect Illinois is more than fortunate, for we have two of the best caliber. Merry has that quality so essential to a great quarterback, namely, that of returning punts by daring and spectacular open-field running, and for this reason he was always expected to set the bleachers wild by one of his sprints. He could begin right where Seiler left off, and the team-play would continue. His passes were perfect, deceptive to his opponents, and always feared by them. In the Syracuse game this year Merriman was a marked man. Having turned defeat into victory the year before, the Easterners kept their eyes on him from the start.

Finnie and Scoggin—we must not talk—but how they love the Psi U walk.

Chester Charles Dillon

CHESTER DILLON was one of the lightest yet one of the headiest men on the team last season. The past season was Dillon's first at Illinois. He came from Illinois State Normal University, where he had distinguished himself by making the All-State team for two years. In the Indiana game the Normal star showed the rooters what he was capable of doing by making numerous long gains, after dodging runs and clever following of interference. Dillon's strong points were bucking the line and running with the ball. He was one of the most valuable men on the offensive playing of the team.

Charles Henry Belting

VERY FEW MEN during their first year's play on a football team become stars, linemen especially. Henry Belting surprised even the most optimistic this year by his spectacular work on defense. There was not a single game in which a man who was his equal was found, and his 190 pounds were always first through the line, breaking up plays before they were fully started. This was especially noticeable in the Northwestern game, when his body was like an immense flail, mowing down the backfield. Belting was useful as a ground-gainer; also when he and Butzer were called back for a line plunge, there was sure to be a gain of several yards.

Charles Wham

THE POSITION of left tackle this year was the object of much competition. After being tried at end, Wham was pushed into tackle, and gave us an opportunity to see the second Wham in a regular position, for he played with great credit the same tackle that his brother played a few years ago. Charlie's style of play is so different from the ordinary that one could easily wonder how he kept his place. He is quiet, cool, and always plugging away with a determination that wins.

Chauncey Bristol Oliver

A YEAR AGO someone said, "Next year should see Oliver a grand tackle." We didn't, but we did see him a great end. Shifted from tackle to end, he soon adapted himself to the situation, and played spectacular football. He was always breaking up the interference, and fighting like a demon from the beginning to the end of the game. Ollie was the first man down under a punt, and waited for the ball. His tackling was of the deadly kind, even though handicapped by the abolition of the flying tackle. Whenever called upon to punt, Oliver could deliver as but few other kickers in the Conference.

I can see that you win that roast contest all right, all right.—EKBKLAU.

William Henry Woolston

WHY CORNELL should allow a man of Woolston's ability to get away is a question that has been in the minds of many of the students. Having graduated from Prep White's squad a year ago as a quarterback, Wooly was the cause of considerable comment as to where he could make good with the Varsity. He was used as a fullback for a time, then filled in at half, and in each of these positions he played like a veteran.

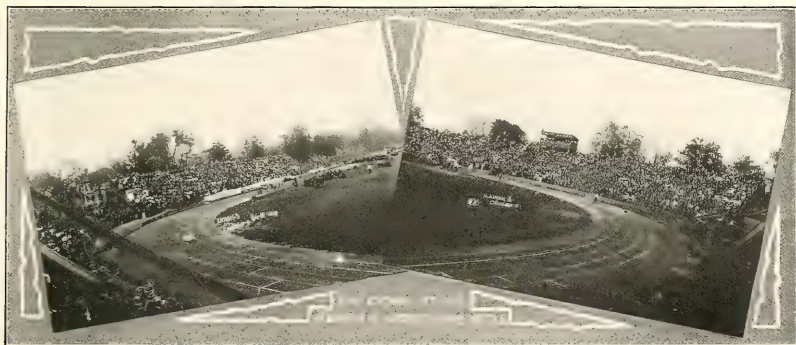

Harold Baird Lanum

JAKE LANUM learned his first foot ball at Champaign High School. Prep White used him on the Freshman Varsity a year ago, and this year his ability was of such a character that as a tackle he easily took first place. After Wham's injury, Jake stepped right into left tackle, and handled the job like a veteran. His determination, drive, and "pep," however, caused one to overlook his lack of stature and weight.

Chester Watson Davis

IN DAVIS Illinois has one of the best sub-linemen that can be found. He is just as valuable at center as he is at guard or tackle. As an understudy to Heavy Twist, he has demonstrated that he knows just how a ball should be passed under the new code of rules. As a guard he was always diving through, and opening immense holes for the backs.

The Graduate Coaching System

George A. Huff, Director of Athletics

THE University of Illinois is the only large university in the West where the graduate coaching system for football has been adopted and adhered to.

A few of our sister institutions have given this system brief trials, but have given up after one or two years. We, at Illinois, believe in having our teams coached by men who formerly played upon them and strong reasons may be presented to support our theory.

We believe that a western man is quite as likely to have brains that will produce results in football as the imported article from the East. We know that our own graduates have a better knowledge of conditions as they exist here than a stranger can possibly have. We also know that our alumni have a loyalty to their own university that no one from another university could possibly feel, and that they will adopt a policy which is best calculated to bring success and credit to our athletics in the long run rather than look to immediate success with small thought of the future.

When we have a successful team coached by our own graduates, it is a satisfaction to know that all the credit belongs to Illinois, that it is our victory through and through, that we do not have to give part of the credit to Yale, Harvard, Princeton, or some other institution because the coach learned his football at one of these universities.

We feel that if we select the right kind of men to do the coaching that we can be perfectly sure that they will do nothing to bring discredit upon the fair name of the University; that we will have teams that are well coached in sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct as well as in the technique of football. We can respect and honor such teams in defeat and feel doubly proud of them in victory.

I am well aware that there are many so-called professional coaches who have the highest sense of sportsmanship and honor, and that there would be some graduate coaches who would not have those qualities, but when a coach is secured from another institution, no matter how highly recommended he may be, one cannot be certain of his character. When the coach is selected from your own graduates—men whom you have known for four years—you cannot make a mistake.

The graduate coaching system has been a success at Illinois, not only because it is right in principle, but also because of an even greater factor—the selection of just the right kind of men.

In Hall and Lindgren (and I include White) we have men of football brains—men with kind hearts and quick sympathies, whom the players love and respect—men of the highest characters, militantly honest and high minded, and thoroughly loyal sons of Illinois.

Yes, I won the N. O. L. when I was at Wisconsin.—C. C. PEARCE.

Prep White

IN OUR PRAISE of the football team and its coaches, Illinois men should not forget Prep White. His real worth to the football team is known by only a few. When he was an undergraduate he served his alma mater well, and as coach of the Freshman Varsity team each fall he instructs the first-year men in the rudiments of football, and instills in them true Illinois loyalty. When the season is completed, the predominating idea which every member of the squad has is: "I must make the Varsity." This determination is the making of Illinois teams. May Prep long remain with us and continue his good work.

"Yes, I know everybody in Cairo."—MISS OHRUM.

ILLINOIS ROOTERS AT BLOOMINGTON

SEILER'S DROP KICK DEFEATS CHICAGO

ROOTERS' SECTION—CHICAGO GAME

Review of 1910 Baseball Season

ILLINOIS' first thousand-per-cent baseball team, champions of the West, early gave promise of their later phenomenal showing. In mid-winter the team on paper looked the peer of any Illinois nine of past years. There were five men who had played Varsity ball together for two seasons, and around them the team was built.

On March 5th the bunch was taken out of doors for the first real spring practice. For three weeks the nine was worked hard. In the Easter series with the strong Arkansas team, coached by Hugh Bezdek, formerly of the University of Chicago, the nine had its first real opportunity to play ball. To John Buzick was given the honor of pitching the first game. Although the score 7 to 5 does not indicate it, Buzick pitched one of the best games of the season. The team behind was a little bit off color, and John was continually on the defensive. The next game proved easier. Illinois won by a score of 7 to 0, due to Henry Penn's superb pitching, and Butzer's and Weber's good batting. The third and last game was pitched by Claude Van Gundy, the only new man on the pitching staff. After a see-saw game, Illinois finally landed on top, largely because of Van's pitching, and home runs by Van Gundy and Butzer.

The team returned home, and was pitted against the Milwaukee American Association bunch in a series of games. Illinois won two, tied one, and lost four. On April 13th the first link in the chain of victories was forged, when we defeated Northwestern by a score of 6 to 1, in a loosely played game, the feature of which was Fatty Huff's home run. Iowa came next, with their highly touted pitcher, West. Buzick pitched in wonderful form, and shut out the Iowans 5 to 0. In the next two weeks four games were postponed on account of cold and rainy weather. On Wednesday, May 4, the team left in what was really the critical time of the season for a three-game trip. On Wednesday Chicago was defeated 6 to 3, Pat Page's curves being hammered to all corners of the lot. The next day the squad journeyed to Evanston, where Northwestern was downed in an up-hill fight by a grand batting rally in the eighth inning. Although he had pitched the day before, Buzick went in and finished the game. On Saturday the team met Wisconsin at Madison. Buzick was again put in the box, and his wonderful work won the game by a score of 4 to 1.

"Why won't they let me go to the Irish banquet?"—CUBBY BAER.

Purdue was the next victim of G.'s remarkable machine, and took the count in a fiercely contested game on Illinois Field by a score of 5 to 4. On Saturday, May 12, Chicago made its first appearance here. The game, largely a pitching battle, between Buzick and Page, was won by Illinois in the ninth inning, Fatty Huff's single driving in the winning run. The following week was Interscholastic, and our high school visitors were treated to a royal exhibition of the national game. On Friday, May 18, Page and Buzick hooked up in another struggle. This time the battle lasted seventeen innings, when Illinois finally triumphed. The next day Minnesota came, and was defeated 5 to 2 in a contest which, because of rain, lasted but seven innings.

During the following week the team ran the last lap. The championship was practically won, only one game being needed to cinch it. Every rooter was pulling for a thousand-per-cent team, and a loyal bunch of rooters followed the team to Purdue. For seven innings the fight was even between Morrow, Purdue's star pitcher, and Buzick, but in the eighth inning the Boilermakers went to pieces, and Illinois scored enough runs to win the game. The championship was ours. Huff's hitting turned the tide and Purdue's errors clinched the contest. The next day Indiana was defeated in a ten-inning battle 4 to 1. Buzick pitched again, and proved himself to be the Iron Man of the Conference, and without doubt worthy to be called one of the greatest, if not the greatest, of Illinois pitchers.

Fourteen games won, and not a single one lost is indeed a record of which to be proud. The 1910 team set a record for all time. Captain Righter and his men deserve great credit for the honor they brought to Illinois, but much greater praise is due to G. Huff, premier coach of the West. In all his years of coaching at Illinois he has always had a winning team, but the 1910 team was his masterpiece. Although Buzick, Righter, Bunn, Quayle, Penn, and McElhiney are gone, yet with Shorty Thomas at the head and G. Huff in his old capacity, the team of 1911 is not one whit inferior to the champions of 1910.

The 1910 Baseball Team

Edwin Brown Righter

MIDGET RIGHTER, captain of Illinois' first thousand-per-cent baseball team, proved himself a man worthy of the honor. To Runt goes a goodly share of the credit for pushing Illinois to the highest point that any college baseball team ever attained. Besides hitting second on the team with an average of .280, he was also one of the best infielders in the Conference. During the entire season he had but one error, and was picked as All-Western second-baseman. At the beginning of the season Midget was placed second in the batting order, as a sacrifice hitter. As the season progressed, his steady consistent hitting won for him a place farther down the hitting column, where his stick could be used to advantage in driving in runs.

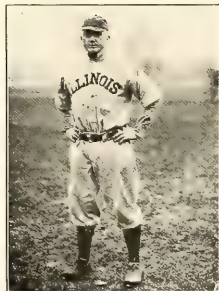

John W. Buzick

JOHAN BUZICK stands out above all other men as the one who did the greatest work in producing the thousand-per-cent team and in making them champions of the West. Out of the fourteen games won, John pitched ten full games and part of another. He proved himself the Iron Man of the Conference. Pitching two games in two days was no task for John, and he seemingly pitched better on the second day than on the first. It was his ability to size up an opponent and find out his weak spot that made Buzick the most feared of Conference pitchers. Perhaps his most notable achievement was the winning of the seventeen-inning contest against Chicago during Interscholastic week. John relied not alone on his good right arm to win games, but was also one of those rare men—a hitting pitcher.

Roger Grant Huff

ROGER HUFF, All-Western catcher for the season of 1910, was an able running mate for the veteran Buzick. He showed himself to be a catcher far above the average college type, and a bright future is assured him should he care to enter professional company. Quick to note the batter's weakness, and using rare judgment in guiding the pitcher, he made an enviable reputation throughout the West. He is a quick, accurate thrower to bases, and his good pegging brought disaster to many a would-be base stealer. As a hitter, Fatty was easily the star of the team.

"I don't see why people talk so about the Illini."—HAZEL OVITZ.

Robert Harwood Quayle

BOBBY QUAYLE, All-Western third-baseman, was one of the brainiest men on the team, always using his head in the midst of the most trying situations, and urging on the men to greater efforts. He played the most difficult position on the team in almost faultless fashion, having only one error, and that in the last game of the season. In the season of 1909 Bobby played short-stop, and made a fine record, but the change to third base seems to have brought even better results. "Come on, boys," was a favorite slogan of his, and whenever the game was close, he could be seen in the coacher's box, pleading and urging them on. G. Huff paid him a glowing tribute, saying that he was one of the best third-basemen who ever wore an Illinois uniform. As a base-runner he was among the best, not speedy, but always aware of the right moment to steal.

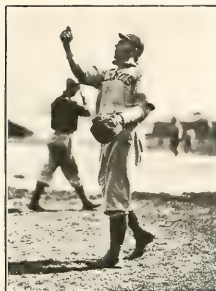

Charles Montgomery Bunn

CHARLES BUNN, or Bo, as he was commonly known, successfully held down the initial sack throughout the entire season. Although handicapped the entire year by illness, he nevertheless stuck gamely to his job and gave Illinois the best he had. There may have been better first-basemen at Illinois than Bunn, but there have been none who worked harder and who did as well under the adverse circumstances. He held the enviable reputation of fielding 1000 per cent for the entire season, and of many times saving his team-mates from errors by seemingly impossible stops and catches. His hits usually came at the time when hits meant runs. Especially was this true in all of the crucial games. Charley was a friend to everybody, never knocking, and always striving to do his utmost for the benefit of the team.

Glen Douglas Butzer

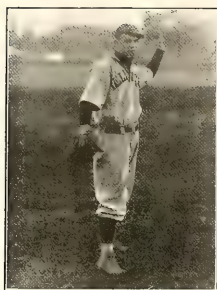

GLEN D. BUTZER proved that a football man can also play baseball. When Butzer first came out for baseball at Illinois, he signed up as a pitcher. A year's trial at this post showed, however, that pitching was not for him, and he became an outfielder. In the early part of the season he gave promise of being one of the leading hitters of the team, and his work on the Easter training trip verified this showing. Butzer was assigned to the left field position, which he held all season. Although a large man, he was exceptionally speedy for his weight, and covered a great deal of ground. He possessed a good throwing arm, and was an excellent judge of fly balls. He was a good sacrifice hitter, and many times successfully pushed the base-runners into a position where a hit meant a run.

"South America is a good place; that is where I come from!"—MULLEN.

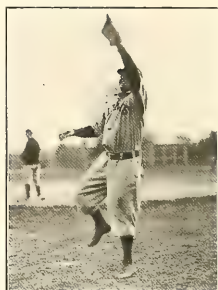

Raymond Rogers Thomas

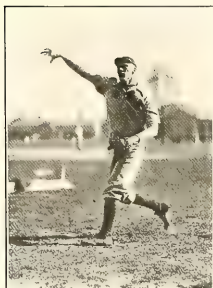

RIGHT FIELD was taken care of last season by one of the fastest and brainiest ball players who has ever performed on Illinois Field. In stature he was one of the midgets, but his size served him well, making him valuable as a man to lead off the batting order. Shorty's main achievements were in the way of base-running and fielding. But his batting average was one which no player need be ashamed to own. All critics were agreed that Thomas was probably the fastest man on bases in the Conference. In the field he was everywhere at once, never playing grandstand, but always on the job, as the fans often expressed it. Thomas has been accorded the honor of leading the Varsity team next season and followers of the Orange and Blue are of one opinion that the choice was a wise one.

Walter Harry Weber

HARRY WEBER, shortstop of the thousand-percent team, was the find of the season. As a star on the freshman team the previous season, he made an enviable record, and it was unanimously conceded that he would land a berth on the team. There were other shortstops in the Conference, but there were none who covered the ground and cut down half the hits that he did. His errors were all hard chances made on drives that seemed sure hits. Possessed of an excellent whip, he has the faculty of cutting off many slow grounders that might otherwise have been hits. He was commonly known as the hardest hitter on the team, and outfielders on the opposing side invariably moved out to the limits whenever he came to bat.

Henry Penn

HENRY PENN, the third member of the Varsity pitching staff, was a victim of the hardest kind of luck. During a game with the Milwaukee American Association team, he strained a tendon in his pitching arm, and was unable to do any work the remainder of the season. This was a hard blow both to Penn and to the team, for he had given promise of being a star last season. In the one college game which he pitched against Arkansas, he won easily by a score of 7 to 0. Great things had been predicted for Henry, and he was expected to divide the work with Buzick. To lose out through injury in his last year was a bitter misfortune, but he bore it with the greatest amount of patience.

Claude Van Gundy

CLAUDE VAN GUNDY shared with Buzick the honors of Illinois' pitching staff. On account of Buzick's wonderful work, Van was not given a very great chance to show his worth, but his work in the Arkansas and Minnesota games shows that he has the making of a first-class pitcher. A steady, consistent worker, he was always on duty for practice, and was always ready to sacrifice himself for the benefit of others. He was a hitter of no mean caliber, and clouted the ball for an average of .333 in the games that he worked. His year on the Varsity in 1910 should prove of value to him, and this year should see him ranked well up among the college pitchers. He has lots of speed and a great variety of curves, as well as the power to size up men, which is a valuable asset to any pitcher.

Lloyd Schwartz

MONK SCHWARTZ, center-fielder, enjoyed the reputation of being one of the fastest men on the team. In going down to first base, he had no equal. In the field he covered a large amount of ground, and was able to cut off a number of base hits. Monk was originally an infielder, but, like Butzer, he decided that the outfield was the place for him. In the Purdue game on Illinois Field Schwartz' work stood out prominently. His base-running put the team in a position to overcome the Boilermakers' early lead, and resulted in the defeat of the visitors. Although he fell down in his hitting somewhat, his clever work on the bases and in the field won him a host of admirers. With a year's experience it is safe to say that his record this season will eclipse even that of last year.

TRACK

Review of 1910 Track Season

THE 1910 OUTDOOR TRACK SEASON commenced with the trip to Philadelphia to the annual relay carnival under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania on April 30. The members of the track team who were taken were Hanley, Richards, Rohrer and Herrick on the relay team, and Graham, Washburn and Murphy in the special events. The freshman relay team, consisting of Cortis, Otto, Hunter and Carney, was also taken. None of the Varsity men placed in the meet, but the freshmen set a new record of 3:26 $\frac{1}{2}$.

The next meet was with Wisconsin on Randall Field on May 7. Although Wisconsin had a better team than we, there is no doubt that we would have won the meet if it had not been for over-confidence, and the inexperience of East. Three good chances to win were thrown away. East slowed down after he had the race won. He could not get started again, and Cleveland drew up, passing him at the tape.

On Chicago Day, May 14, after seemingly being out of the running, we came from behind, and by taking all three places in the broad jump we won out by a score of 67 to 59.

Purdue was our next victim on May 20. The Boilermakers secured only two firsts in this meet, and we won by a heavy score, 96 to 30. Three Illinois records were broken in this meet. East gave Wasson, his old rival, a good trouncing in the fast time of 9:54 $\frac{1}{2}$, Herrick set a new half-mile record of 1:58 $\frac{2}{5}$, and Murphy vaulted 12 feet.

The indoor season for 1911 included three dual meets, two with Chicago, and one with the Chicago Athletic Club. Besides these, Illinois was represented at the first indoor Conference meet, held at Northwestern March 25. The meets against the Maroons resulted in an even break, Illinois taking the first meet held here by a score of 56 to 36, and losing in Bartlett Gymnasium later in the season 39 to 47. The C. A. A. representatives were defeated 45 to 41 in one of the closest and most interesting indoor meets ever held at Illinois.

220-YARD DASH—PURDUE MEET

EAST BREAKS TRACK RECORD FOR MILE

Senior Track Men

Carl James Rohrer

CARL ROHRER, this year's captain, has been one of the most reliable men on the team. During his sophomore year he ran the mile, but Coach Gill changed his event to the half-mile and the relay. Rohrer was a member of the relay team which participated in the Pennsylvania relay carnival, and also one of four members of the Conference team which represented Illinois during the past season.

G. Wirt Herrick

WIRT HERRICK, our boy wonder from Farmer City, has two Illinois track records to his credit. They are the outdoor mile and half mile. Wirt's steady, easy running has made him a dependable contestant in practically every meet. Herrick's performances have always been the object of much favorable comment by track enthusiasts. In the mile grind the Farmer City lad has had an opportunity to display his grit and endurance, and his work in the half and quarter has proved that his ability in these events is more than ordinary.

Paul John Graham

DICK GRAHAM, who has been a member of the track team for three years, competed in the pole vault and broad jump. During his first year as a Varsity track man, he gained the distinction of tying for third in the pole vault in the Conference meet. In the broad jump Graham has made a satisfactory showing, winning several points in this event in the different meets. Dick was a member of the team which represented Illinois at the Pennsylvania relay carnival last April.

Joe Kossuth Burns

JACK BURNS does not look like a weight man, but his performances in the field events prove otherwise. The shot put and hammer throw are the events in which he competed. Jack was ineligible during the first semester of his sophomore year, but after being restored to grace he won the shot put in the Chicago indoor meet in easy fashion. Last year Burns was a valuable asset to the well-balanced track team. He won his "I" in the shot put, and made a good showing in every meet.

It is very convenient to have a University connected with our Y. M. C. A.

1910 Conference

Review of the Conference

THE FIRST CONFERENCE MEET ever staged on Illinois Field was held on Saturday, June 4, 1910. It was a great success, both financially and from an athletic standpoint. The largest attendance ever recorded for a Conference meet, nearly five thousand, witnessed the events.

The five records broken include the half-mile, the mile, the quarter-mile, the low hurdles, and the high jump. One mark, that of the two-mile run, was equaled. Davenport, of Chicago, Baker, of Oberlin, Nelson, of Washington State, and Philbrook, of Notre Dame were the individual stars of the meet. Davenport won two firsts and broke two records. Baker won two firsts, broke one record, and tied another. Nelson had victories in two short dashes to his credit, and Philbrook won two firsts and a third.

Probably the most sensational race of the day was the mile event, in which Baker nosed out Dohmen of Wisconsin by a scant foot. The showing of Davenport in the quarter and half-mile runs, and the sensational sprinting of Nelson were thoroughly brilliant. For Illinois, Murphy, East, Springe, and Jones were point-winners. Their performances were exceptionally creditable, and reflected favorably on the work of Coach Gill.

BASKETBALL

BASKET BALL.

Review of 1911 Basketball Season

THE 1910 BASKETBALL SEASON was full of upsets for several of the Conference teams and Illinois had her share. After the six weeks of practice the men were working together in good shape, but were minus the services of Plochman, the center, due to an injured shoulder.

Illinois won the first game of the season with Indiana on January 7, by a score of 32 to 22, and the men were going finely the first part of the Chicago game, when Plochman unfortunately hurt a knee, throwing him out of the game for the rest of the season. Chicago won this game 23 to 17.

The following Friday and Saturday, January 20 and 21, on the northern trip, the team took the Gophers' measure 18 to 17, but lost to Wisconsin 20 to 17. The last game of the first semester, with Purdue, was the hardest-fought contest of the season, and resulted in the defeat of the Illini by a score of 33 to 29. The next three weeks were taken up with exams, and in getting a new line-up in shape to play, for we had lost both forwards, Hall and Matter, who had been playing great ball.

The Indiana-Purdue trip resulted in a defeat at Indiana, 19 to 15, but we beat Purdue by a good score, 25 to 15. The last two games were with Minnesota and Wisconsin, both contenders for the championship. Illinois won both games, 22 to 12, and 21 to 18, respectively.

The Conference basketball race this year was the closest it has ever been. There were five teams in the running all of the time. Minnesota and Purdue, the two teams which were tied for first, lost four games each, Illinois and Chicago each lost five, and Wisconsin lost six. The five leading teams were evenly matched, and always played extremely close games. Illinois was unfortunate in losing so many close score games. They were never beaten by more than six points, while the rest of the losing games were lost by closer scores.

Captain Bernstein played remarkably good ball all season. His consistent defensive work and fighting were of the greatest value to the team. Bernie has ended a brilliant career as an Illinois athlete. Poston's ability to score was very notable in the last few games, and was always a worry to his opponent.

Woolston played a steady game all season, and should be an All-Western guard next year. Leo also played good ball, and with this season's experience back of him he should be a valuable man next year. White, who played Varsity basketball for the first time this year, rightfully earned his position. His fast work, both offensive and defensive, was a feature of every game.

My, but can't Illinois field?

❖ GYMNASTICS ❖

Review of 1910 Gymnastic Season

LAST YEAR was the first season in which Illinois took an active interest in intercollegiate gymnastics. The first meet was held with Chicago on April 8, 1910. The result was a victory for the Maroon team by a narrow margin, the final score being, Chicago 1045.75, Illinois 1024.25. Considering the fact that this meet was the first gymnastic tournament in which three of the members of the team had competed, the showing of the team was especially encouraging.

A marked improvement in the work of the team was exhibited at the Western Intercollegiate meet held at Minneapolis on April 15. The Illinois representatives bested the Chicago team by eleven points, taking one first, three seconds, and three thirds in the various events. Captain Styles distinguished himself by winning the individual all-around gymnastic championship of the West.

The personnel of the team remains intact for the present season. Edward E. Hollmann is the new captain-elect. Meets were arranged with Chicago and Minnesota, and representatives were sent to compete in the Western Intercollegiate meet at Chicago on April 22. The team of the present season is considerably stronger than it was last year, and it made a much better showing for the season. The large amount of experience gained will assist materially in developing a championship gymnastic team.

INTERSCHOLASTIC.

The 1910 Interscholastic Meet

T. E. THOMPSON
Manager 1910 Interscholastic

THE 1910 INTERSCHOLASTIC was one of the largest and most successful ever held at Illinois. Over ninety schools were represented by nearly six hundred athletes. Three interscholastic records were broken, one of the new records being a world's mark.

University High took first place, with twenty-six points; Milford was second with eighteen; and Hyde Park was third with twelve. The other schools trailed along, the lowest score being one-seventh of a point.

C. C. WILLMORE
Manager 1911 Interscholastic

Byrd, of Milford, was the individual star, scoring thirteen points. Incidentally, he set a new world's record of 139 feet, 5 inches, in the discus throw, breaking Giffin's old record by nearly ten feet. The other records broken were by Berry, of Beardstown, with a hammer throw of 166 feet, 9½ inches, and by Yates, of Galesburg, who ran the half-mile in the fast time of 2:01 2/5.

The Year in Oratory and Debate

IRMA E. VOIGT

IN THE CONTEST of the Northern Oratorical League, held in Minneapolis, May 6, 1910, Illinois was represented by Miss Irma E. Voigt, '10. Her oration, "The Status of Woman," was delivered with great distinction, and won second place. She was awarded the Lowden testimonial of fifty dollars. Mr. Robert B. Fizzell, '10, made a creditable showing in the State Peace Contest. Our representatives this year in the two contests are Mr. J. C. Searle, '11, and Mr. H. M. Thrasher, '11.

Last year Illinois won the decision in three out of four debates; this year the record has been reversed, and we have lost three out of four. In each debate, however, the men who represented Illinois put up a worthy fight, as is suggested by the split decisions in all three of the defeats suffered, and by the unanimous vote in our favor in the debate which we won.

There are two developments in the public speaking situation which merit special notice. The first is the establishment of a graded system of prizes for the men who represent the University in debate and oratory. These prizes are given annually by Hon. William B. McKinley, and are arranged in an ascending scale of value, being awarded in accordance with the number of times any individual speaker has appeared in intercollegiate contests.

The second innovation is a somewhat elaborate scheme, originated by Mr. C. C. Pearce, and entered into by the Philomathean, Adelpic, and Ionian literary societies. By this plan silver cups are awarded to the respective winners of the Peace and Northern Oratorical League contests, and a splendid banner is permitted to remain for a year in the possession of the society whose members score the greatest number of points in debate and oratory. It is thought that by this means the active interest which the societies have long taken in the public speaking contests will be strengthened and encouraged.

DRAMATICS

The Year in Dramatics

THE CHRONICLE of plays produced by amateurs at the University during the last two seasons takes one from Shakespeare to Gillette, with an occasional excursus into foreign fields.

The season of 1910 opened with Shakespeare on February 10, when Mr. Halliday's class in interpretative reading produced "The Taming of the Shrew" in Morrow Hall. It was a difficult undertaking worthily carried out. No scenery was used, but the costuming was adequate and effective. By use of a special fund, the department of English offered the entertainment without admission charge. Mr. J. W. Shrader played Petruchio, and Miss Margaret Weinberg was the Katherina. Others in the cast were Misses Van Cleve and Reid, Messrs. Walton, Talbot, Dallenbach and Frailey.

On February 24 and 25, the Players' Club added Sheridan's "The Rivals" to its long list of successful revivals. Mrs. A. T. Lincoln, famous for her character impersonations, returned from the East to make a farewell appearance with the club as Mrs. Malaprop. Sir Anthony was of course played by Mr. Drury, Sir Lucius by Dr. Oliver, Captain Jack by Mr. Halliday, and Bob Acres by Dr. Colvin. Mrs. Clark was cast for Lydia, and Mrs. Colvin for Lucy. Mrs. Flom and Messrs. Kelly, Pearce, Owen, Jackson, and Parker made up the company. Under Mr. Drury's stage management the production more than sustained the reputation of the club for artistic and delightful comedy.

The second annual offering of the Adelphic and Illiola literary societies was "Nephew or Uncle," from Schiller's "Der Neffe als Onkel," produced on March 22 and 23, under Mr. Halliday's direction. The briskness and mirth of the comedy won a solid success in the hands of the following players. Misses Waddell, Porter and Nichol; Messrs. Pletcher, Miller, Walton, Walker, Benson, Hight, White and Dallenbach.

The same societies opened the present season on February 16 and 17 with a lively revival of Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer," under Mr. Halliday's direction. Intelligence and spirit infused the necessary freshness into the old classic. In several instances the minor parts were as well acted as the leads, and the cast as a whole showed aptitude and experience, as well as careful preparation. The players were: Misses Nichol, Brooks, Clarke, and Fleming; Messrs. Fender, Goebel, Nolan, Albin, Brown, Walker, Stevenson, Pletcher, White, Rohlfing, and Rang.

With his own tongue still edifies his ears.—DR. PAETOW.

The Athenean and Ionian literary societies resumed their dramatic activities on March 23 and 24, presenting "Esmeralda," by Mrs. Burnett and William Gillette. Although this type of play is not well adapted to amateurs, it brought out some excellent acting. Mr. D. T. Howard, as Elbert Rogers, gave the best-rounded piece of character work which the writer has seen in Illinois student plays since the days of Earl Snider. The supporting company: Misses Miller, Miché, Watson, Seyster and Mattson; Messrs. Zeiring, Noon, Checkley, Gilmore and Arnold. Mr. F. W. Thomas directed the production.

These productions do not exhaust the list of the season's plays. On April 7 and 8 the Players' Club presented Byron's "Our Boys," the class in dramatic reading is preparing a recent comedy and a revival of Sheridan's "St. Patrick's Day," and the Mask and Bauble promises a spring production. With all of these offerings, the year's record will be a long and creditable one.

The interest in dramatic work at Illinois is wholesome and well-directed. It has developed a fair degree of ability and furnished much solid amusement, apart from its genuine educational value. Furthermore, this interest has developed in the face of conditions which have taxed to the utmost the ingenuity and patience of all concerned. The University has been generous in allowing the use of such facilities as exist, but nevertheless has not been able to provide a hall or equipment in any degree worthy of the dramatic work which has been accomplished. It would be a pity if it became necessary to take our plays regularly to the local theaters. And if, on the other hand, the University shall find it possible to house our plays comfortably in a campus theater, the development of this phase of college work and recreation is sure to be rapid and strong.

The 1910 Maypole Dance

ONE OF THE MOST POPULAR of University events is the Maypole Dance, given every spring by the girls' gymnasium classes. To us, accustomed as we are to the elaborate performances on Illinois Field, with grand-stand and bleachers filled to overflowing with visitors, the history of this institution is of great interest.

In 1898, the first simple little Maypole Dance, consisting of one winding figure, was given on the South Campus. Some of the spectators were accommodated by a circle of chairs which were provided by the Y. W. C. A., and the rest of the onlookers stood behind. The Y. W. girls sold home-made candy that year, and later added ice cream and sandwiches, as the affair grew more elaborate.

In 1906, for the first time, the dance was given on Illinois Field, and in that year or the following, admission was charged, a custom which has continued, the receipts going to the Women's Athletic Association. Each year the Y. W. C. A. takes advantage of the enthusiasm to give a stunt party in the Auditorium in the evening.

Last year the most elaborate drills ever given took place on Illinois Field on May 19, at the close of a beautiful spring day. The senior girls in cap and gown, and the gymnasium girls in fancy costumes serenaded the president's house with Illinois songs, and then marched, the seniors leading, to Illinois Field.

The ceremonies began with the entrance of the May Queen, the part being taken by Norma Cooley. She was escorted by her maid of honor, who was Julia Harper, and many attendants. The queen was crowned in a series of pretty poses, and was then carried off the field on the shoulders of a human tally-ho.

The sweet-pea waltz, the flower drill, and the shepherdess dance preceded the grand maypole. The latter was danced around a huge pole in the middle of the field, with the figures weaving the orange and blue streamers in and out. The program was ended by a group of seven interesting and artistically costumed dances of the nations, with an ensemble giving the Illinois Salute at the last.

Charles Davison

DR. CHARLES DAVISON, professor of surgery and clinical surgery in the College of Medicine of the University of Illinois, was born on a farm in Illinois, January 13, 1858. He was educated at Wauconda Academy and the Chicago Medical College (Medical department of Northwestern University), graduating in 1883. In 1883-1884, he became an interne in the Cook County Hospital, being house surgeon in the service of the celebrated Christian Fenger, and also assistant surgeon at the Illinois Eye and Ear Hospital from 1887 to 1892.

Dr. Davison since 1894 has been attending surgeon to Cook County Hospital, conducting one of its largest surgical clinics. He was one of the founders of the West-Side Hospital and later of the University Hospital of Chicago.

Dr. Davison became connected with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Chicago at the time of its affiliation with the University of Illinois, as professor of surgical anatomy, being later transferred to the surgical department and made adjunct professor of clinical surgery at Cook County Hospital.

He has held the chair of professor of surgery and clinical surgery since 1904, and was a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois for one term. As a trustee his personal influence was always exerted towards making the medical college an integral part of the University, and when this was accomplished on September 1, 1910, he resigned from the Board of Trustees.

Dr. Davison is a member of the following organizations: Chicago Surgical Society, Illinois State Medical Society, American Medical Association, Chicago Medical Society, Physicians' Club, Alpha Kappa Kappa, Alpha Omega Alpha, Mystic Shrine, and Knights Templar.

He is a regular contributor to current surgical literature, and is recognized among his profession as an energetic and successful surgeon, and by the students as an incisive and instructive teacher. The rapid and persistent quizzing at the Monday morning clinic at the Cook County Hospital will long be remembered by the graduates of the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Charles Spencer Williamson

CHARLES SPENCER WILLIAMSON, professor of clinical medicine and associate professor of medicine, was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, May 15, 1872. He graduated from the University of Cincinnati with the degree of B. S. in 1893, his diploma reading, "with highest distinction." Among scholastic honors, Dr. Williamson was editor-in-chief of the college paper, winner of the Jones prize in oratory, and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. In 1896, he graduated from the medical department of the University of Cincinnati, winning in competitive examination the position of resident physician in the Cincinnati Hospital and holding this position for the eighteen months ending October, 1897.

Shortly after he sailed for Europe, where he pursued post-graduate medical work and original research for a little more than three years. The first year of this time was spent at Leipzig as "voluntaer assistant" to Curschmann and in work in the Pathological Institute under Birch-Hirschfeld. While there published an extensive research on the pneumococcus infection in the rabbit and man. After a few months' clinical work in Berlin, the following two years were spent in Vienna, pursuing exclusively work in internal medicine under Nothnagel, Neusser and Kovacs, and such parts of pathology as bore directly upon this, under Weichselbaum, Albrecht and Paltauf.

After a short stay in Paris and London, Dr. Williamson returned to America early in the winter of 1900-1901, beginning practice in Chicago in February, 1901, and limiting it to internal medicine exclusively. In this year he was made adjunct professor of medicine, lecturing in junior medicine. The following year he became professor of clinical medicine and established a college clinic in medicine which has been held uninterruptedly since that time.

For the past four years, in addition to the clinical work just mentioned, he has been associate professor of medicine and was appointed a member of the first consulting staff of the Cook County Hospital, holding for the past six years a clinic in that institution. Since 1901 he has been engaged in post-graduate teaching in the Chicago Polyclinic as professor of gastro-enterology, editing, in addition to contributions to various journals, French's "Practice of Medicine."

Carl Svante Nicanor Hallberg

1856-1910

CARL SVANTE NICANOR HALLBERG was born October 13, 1856, in Sweden, in the city of Helsingborg, on the sound directly opposite the Danish city of Elsinore, with its ancient fort, in which was laid the scene of the story of Hamlet.

He received his early education in his native land, entering the private school at the age of four. Continuing until he was nine years of age, he was admitted to the "gymnasium," where he continued his studies until the removal of his parents to America. They left Sweden in 1869, settling at Altoona, Pennsylvania, on the fourth of July in the same year.

The fact that he was the descendant of a family versed in the arts of healing for some generations—his father being a technical chemist—probably accounted for his adoption of pharmacy as a profession. In 1874, he entered the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, graduating in the class of 1876. In 1877 he came to Chicago.

After some years' service as clerk and proprietor, he engaged in the manufacturing of National Formulary preparations and other pharmaceuticals, for which he and his associate, C. D. Feldking, were awarded a gold medal by the American Pharmaceutical Association at the exposition in Detroit in 1886.

He served as a member of the committee of the National Formulary since its organization in 1886, contributing to three editions. He was a member of the committee on revision of the United States Pharmacopoeia for 1890, 1900, and 1910. He was a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association since 1879, of the Illinois Pharmaceutical Association since 1881, serving as secretary of the latter from 1890 to 1891. He was a member of the council on pharmacy and chemistry of the American Medical Association, the origin of which is to his credit.

In 1896, when the College of Pharmacy was united with the University, his appointment to the chair of pharmacy was confirmed by the trustees of the latter institution. He held this position until the time of his death, which occurred on October 22, 1910.

Albert Henry Clark

ALBERT HENRY CLARK, assistant professor of chemistry, is a native of Illinois, and received his early education within its borders. When fifteen years of age he entered upon the duties of an apprentice in a drug-store. In the winter of 1891-1892 he attended the Chicago College of Pharmacy, and in the spring of 1892 became a registered pharmacist in Illinois. During the eleven years following he was employed as pharmacist with R. N. Doods of Springfield, Illinois.

In the fall of 1903 he returned to the College of Pharmacy, which in the meantime had become a part of the University of Illinois, and the following spring completed the work with honors. For a short time he was employed with a firm of manufacturing chemists, and in 1905 the post of assistant in chemistry at his alma mater was offered him. He has been connected with the school continuously since then as instructor and acting professor, and on the retirement of Professor Puckner in 1909 succeeded him, as assistant professor of chemistry.

During his connection with the school, Professor Clark has been active in national and local pharmaceutical affairs. He has contributed frequently to scientific pharmaceutical literature and is now chairman of the scientific committee of the American Pharmaceutical Association. He has been recently elected a member of the United States Pharmacopoeial revision committee. He is a member of the American Chemical Society, Illinois Pharmaceutical Association, American Pharmaceutical Association, and is secretary of the Alumni Association of the University of Illinois School of Pharmacy.

Senior Class History

TWO YEARS IN THE REALMS OF MEMORY marks the birth of the class of 1911, and since its birth it has had no few epochs to evince its glow of prosperity as well as shadows of grief to add to its disappointment. In the death of our beloved and greatly admired professor of pharmacy, Carl S. N. Hallberg, the pangs of sorrow have been deeply impressed. His professional guidance, as well as his singular personality, has been a daily loss. Our sadness was turned to rejoicing, however, with the announcement of the appointment of Professor Snow to the chair of pharmacy. We have lacked at no time scientific methods of pharmacy explained in a learned and skillful manner.

As juniors, our first visit to the university building was one which prompted the seeking of accidental insurance. We met Professor Day and other members of the faculty, and joined with them in hoping that the legislature would look favorably upon an appropriation in the near future.

The noteworthy event of the year was the junior class dance. The opening of the senior year showed the loss of many of our members, who will return in future years. Strange faces were present; some members of former classes, and some from other universities who have since proved themselves quite worthy of membership in the 1911 class.

Social affairs recently have included the dance tendered the juniors and the one in honor of the alumni and faculty. Both were successes in every respect. In a few days our class will disperse to all parts of the country. Each one of us will carry with him the coveted diploma, of which he is justly proud. May success and happiness follow each and every member of the senior class of 1911, as he embarks upon his life-work.

The Junior Class

Pharmacal Bodies of 1911

“SO GLAD YOU CALLED.” Stepping into the elevator, our friend had received a hearty reception from the faculty and librarian, and then passed out through the labs and lecture halls adorned with the artistic products of previous years. On entering the smoking room, he was presented to the Pharmacal Bodies of 1911, with the following explanations:

Almquistis Albertum: A fall perennial; habitat, history and use unknown.

Andersonaceae Adolphis Emilum: A low evergreen shrub, flowering in the latter part of April (the 26th); poison.

Annenbergis S. C.: An ineffective proprietary.

Backus Edwinus J.: An important officinal, commonly known as new century god of wine.

Boden Carliside: A metal; should yield, when assayed by official class methods, 99.99 per cent, Ag.; usual yield, 23 per cent, Ag.

Bosverum Clifferdum Jeromis: A natural emulsion, easily identified by its viscosity.

Broddaceae Lawrenceum: A cultivated flowing plant, collected in evening by men with white gloves, in a taxi; delicate, but stable.

Bredenbackyl Williamine Anthonal: A volatile liquid; kept in inverted, well-stoppered amber-colored bottles at 0 degrees, Centigrade, remote from flames.

Burleyaceae Bartum Douglasae: Recently classified as it was found to produce cotton fibers and woolen fabric from Linum.

Bouttem Matthevmethane Virgilol: A tertiary alchol; may be produced synthetically.

Clarkaceae Stanleyis: An annual, used in the treatment of obesity.

Churchillii G. Semplexus: A syrupy condiment; flames brightly in presence of C_2H_5OH , but precipitates with feminals with explosive violence.

Eichera Benna Leea: A newly discovered serum, now being used in the treatment of the hook-worm.

Flynnaceae Edgaris: An undetermined species of the Flyaceae family.

Footeeceae Cliffordum LeRoyum: A delightful fall perennial, having but little therapeutical value.

Frankii Georgeside: A metal of dull luster.

Finglii Antonius: A newly discovered bacilli, now being studied by chemists.

Goveiae Lloydis (Dist.): A peculiar inorganic compound neutralizing al hydrocarbons having OH radical.

Griffinal Edvardine, or “Perpetual Beauty”: A new delightful cosmetic; too expensive for practical use.

Halfacreace Edwardis Josephum: Too difficult to classify.

Houriganal Bernardis: A delightful spirit, manufactured in Smith Falls Ontario; shipped in leaden casks.

Hrejsaceae Josephus Francis: An allied species of cannabis indica; actions laughable, anti-cigarettist.

Helstroma Andrewis Bergeris: A volatile antiseptic, rubifacient, thought to be a cordiant among the ladies, but of doubtful value.

Heidbredium Herbertis Henryii: A complicated disease, more mystifying and deadlier than pellagra.

Hooperii C.: An insoluble metal; will take bright polish when rubbed.

Janzum Ernestis Theodoris (Syn. "Lactose"): Peculiar crystalline sugar, purity doubtful.

Keefrey Jamesis: An inorganic compound, volatile explosive; "Caution," but specifically an "Antiperiodic".

Kepneraceae Paullina McCullochum: An irregular flower; polysmilious; brightest at noon(tide) in presence of Feminaceae.

Leeii Orvalol Wilkis (Syn. "Ego"): A gaseous, volatile explosive; rare compound, kept in frozen tubes to prevent fatal explosion.

Leeaceae Solomonis: An undetermined perennial, a supposed species of Araceae.

Lindstromium Reubonis: A granular effervescent salt, identified by its free liberation of CO₂. Actions indefinite.

Lowernum Royis Harryis: A Glucoside from Mosatis or forgetmenots (when you know she is true).

Loganum Chesteris: A fat that is not a fat. Why?

Machenheimeraceae Oscaris, or "Butch": Rare plant, powerf l cordiac with the ladies, but deadly in large doses; chemical formula, C₄Lg₂ (F₂S₄)₆OH.

Markaceae Erwinum: A flowering evergreen cultivated for ornament and therapeutical properties, often found associated with various species of Hobleaceae skirtum.

Montgomeryi Ernesti Elmerii: A specific for somnabulistic diseases.

Noonera T. Alexandris: A preparation of no known use.

Porkorneyus Michaelus Adolphis: A product of nautilus origin; an allied species of Godus Mowhecae.

Pieperaceae Louisa Albertum: A delicate perennial; flowers in the country; habitat Jacksonville.

Rossine Thomasior: An alkaloid of unknown value, incompatible with feminals.

Sarginsonal 2 Rollo 4 Bielbythacae: A new synthetical product of uncertain actions.

Schildbergis Benjamin Samuelis: A peculiar stimulant producing involuntary movement of the upper extremities and vocal cords; never given.

Schreiber Charlesii Georgeia: Said to be of value in the manufacture of certain acids in oxidizing the "alc" radical.

Setzeum Edwini J.: The most common parasiticide; never given internally without fatal results.

Siebenol Harrythane: Always sold under red label, "Poison", "Caution".

Smithaceae Williamis Adolphis: A tall perennial; indefinite action; habitat Joliet.

Watsonae Louii Archibadium: A stable insoluble compound; marketed under trade name, "Diligential Studius."

Whiteaceae Harryii Arthurum: A powerful stimulant; allied to species Classaceae politicianum.

Whiteae Williamii Sylvestral: A peculiar coating for billiard balls.

Wruckinum Otto Julius: A acute form of rickets.

Wismanis Ralphia Illuminate: Species of fish; long snout; prone to flutter.

Zellingeraceae J. Williamus: Defines classification, but is of known value in treatment of certain diseases (?).

Modesty prevents further explanation, but as we stop to bid him adieu he adds: "Antiperiodic", "Parasiticide", "Cotton Wool". The John Bull, Swede, and Lactose were under obligations to the remaining pharmaceuticals for their permitted presence.

Feb. 15—Professor Flom declares that Kensington Runic stone is a fake. Entire University community aroused by the epoch-making discovery.

Halliday brings sorrow brine to great audience in chapel by his pathetic neck-stretching sketch, entitled, "Moo Cow, Moo."

Pletcher elected president of junior class. "Verily this is the age of miracles", said the politician as he broke a toothpick from his crumbling coffin, and grinned vacuously.

Feb. 17—Seniors still unwinding the talkee-talkie protest against final exams. Somehow the pen is not mightier than the sword here.

STUPENDOUS OCCURRENCE OBSERVED

SIMON LITMAN SEEN WITHOUT HIS SATCHEL.

Believed Now to be Failing Fast.—Student Succumbs to Pitiful Sight.

Last night about 6:30 a student became violently wrought up at the spectacle of Simon Litman crossing the campus without his satchel. After restoratives had been applied to the terrified student, he tremblingly stated that, in his five years of study here, he had never known Simon to leave behind this little valise. "Whether," chattered the poor fellow, "Simon's belfry needs a few new joists, or whether—" and here he sobbed convulsively—"his whole upper story is bug-house, I don't know. 'Tis indeed a crushing visitation of providence."

Cubby Baer and the Cubby Bear and the Bear

While hunting in the Rocky Mountains last summer Cubby Baer came upon a big Bear and her Cubby Bear. Now Bear saw Baer just as Baer saw Bear. Cubby Bear didn't see Cubby until later. Baer started to load his gun, but his cartridge box was bare; in the meantime Bear thought Baer would make a good meal for her and Cubby Bear, and so made bare her purpose by approaching Baer. Baer was defenseless, so proceeded to fight the Bear with his bare hands. Bear started to make Baer bare by grabbing Baer's clothes in her teeth and pulling them off, probably because Bear didn't want to chew the rag with Baer. Now, Cubby Bear also began to take parts of Cubby Baer without Cubby Baer's permission. Baer couldn't bear the Bear any longer, and likewise Bear couldn't bear Baer any more, and so Baer barely escaped.

A Letter from Si

Farmer John sat down in his old arm-chair,

And the furrows on his brow

Resembled those in his ten-acre lot.

Newly traversed by the plow.

The cause of his woe was a letter long—

The post-mark was Champaign,

That town whence all the learned come,

And those who attain great fame.

He gazed at the pages long and hard,

With love and joy each sentence scanned;

'Twas written on foolscap, with monogram,

In the bold university hand.

The longer he read the more puzzled he grew,

And finally loud did call:

"Come here, Samantha, and help me out,

I can't read Si's letter at all."

His obedient spouse came at once to his call,

And quickly dusted the old arm chair;

"A letter from Si; well now, do tell;

What does he say, how's everything there?"

Farmer John paused a bit, and then slowly said:

"Wal, I really can't make out,

Though I've read the letter again and again,

What the lad is talkin' about."

"He says he's awfully fond of Champaign,

If he drinks that hot old stuff,

We'll call him home immediately,

If cider ain't good enough."

"They had a rush the other night—

What that was I don't know—

But he says he had to climb a tree,

And sing for three hours or so."

"Far down below were lots o'chaps,

Who danced around and said:

'Now keep it up, you're doin' fine',

Till Si thought he'd drop dead."

"An' then he says he rode the goat—
What ails him I'd like to know,
He'd never ride the goat at home,
Who'd think that he'd change so?"

"He says they have just loads of fun,
And lots and lots of spreads—
Wal, now, Samantha, I'm real glad
They have such nice warm beds."

"He has his hair cut twice a year,
'It's the style down here,' says he.
Wal, it saves him quite a barber's bill,
And teaches him economy."

"They call him—what's that word right there?
It's—wal, by heck—it's 'Fresh';
I'll break their necks fur teasing him;
They think he's green, I guess."

"They have a Bone-yard in the town,
He says it's rather wet;
That's where he doesn't want to go,
'Tis a joy he's never met."

"And now he writes a lot of stuff,
It's all like Greek to me;
He says he 'lunked' the other day
In French and history."

"Whatever that is, I do not know;
It can't be nothin' bad,
For then he adds, so lovin' like:
'But that is quite the fad'."

"He's goin' to have a 'lark' tonight;
My, they're stylish in that town,
A-eatin' birds that sing so fine,
While we eat chicken brown."

"Wal, now he says he'll have to close.
Yes, Si's a real good boy,
Fur at the end he's written down:
'Three cheers fur Illinois.'"

What Heroes We Are At Home

CAIRO BOY IS HONORED

Erich Schwartz Made Second Lieut. of Infantry at the University of Illinois.

Erich Schwartz, who has been attending the University of Illinois for the past two years, has been honored by that institution. He had been a sergeant major of the regiment of Infantry of the University the past year, and on account of his good record has been raised to the rank of second lieutenant.

He was recommended to the position by Commandant Lieutenant Colonel E. G. Fechet, U. S. A., retired, and President James, of the University of Illinois. He was appointed by the council of administration.

—Cairo Bulletin.

FORMER GILMAN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT HONORED.

Arthur Holch was one of the successful six to be chosen to represent the University of Illinois in the triangular debate between Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois. There were sixty in the first tryout on Dec. 9. Twenty-four of these were chosen for the second tryout. On Dec. 20 this squad was reduced to 12. These 12 then tried out on Jan. 10 and the six on the team were chosen. First place went to a graduate student, and one who had been on two former varsity debating teams. Second place was awarded to Arthur Holch, who is a sophomore. When you consider that Arthur was working against graduate students mostly, and that this was his first attempt to compete for a place on a varsity team, we must admit that he made a pretty good showing. Arthur will debate against Indiana at Urbana on March 15. The question is, "Resolved, That each state in the Union should enact laws providing for the compulsory arbitration of labor disputes."

—Gilman Weekly Star.

HOME FROM ILLINOIS.

Miss Celia Jordan, Western avenue, went out to Lockport yesterday to spend the day with Miss Grace Bacon, who is just home from her first year at the University of Illinois. These two girls have been decidedly close friends and as Miss Jordan is as dark and lovely as Miss Bacon is fair and beautiful the girls have always demanded more than passing attention among all their friends. Miss Bacon is brim full of stories about life at her sorority house where there are twenty girls domiciled and yet they are so congenial and self sacrificing that there was not a single scrap all year round. And they wore each others "duddies" occasionally too. Miss Bacon is expecting her room mate, Miss Withers, who resides in Lexington, Ill., to spend a portion of August with her. Miss Withers sings beautifully and it is said will study for grand opera at the completion of her university course.

Sample of Scotch Kinley's Lectures in Economics 1

"I wish to call your attention this morning to a recent article of mine which has just come out in the North American Refuse on the subject of "Consternation". (Class begins to clap.) "Pzzst", says the dean, raising his hands, "Shhhhh! All this might make Professor Dewsnup uncomfortable."

"In fact, I am not sure but that I originated the idea during the time Theodore Roosevelt was in the presidential chair. (Steps in front of the speaker's desk, with hands in pockets, and crosses his legs.) At any rate, it was about the time (fountain pens buzz hard and fast) that I got a letter signed by Joe Cannon, Bob Lafollette, Nels Aldrich, and Joe Bailey, offering to start a presidential boom for me. But I told them it wasn't any use. I like to be among you young people." (Takes off his glasses, looks at the co-eds, and smiles.)

"Now, as I was about to say, this policy reminds me of my recent trip to South America, when the United States government, having heard of the national reputation my book, "Money," has made, gave me a free trip. Yes, indeed, it was a great privilege, filled with mammoth responsibilities. We had to take automobile trips about the different cities of the South American countries, and attend several banquets a week. Er-why, I have a map right here (looks over his glasses), showing you in a nutshell what great countries these are. (Bling-a-ling-a-ling-a-ling, goes the bell, and then there is a great scraping of feet, sighs, and a hasty exodus.)

What a Conglomeration We Are!

Did you ever happen to notice what a variety of junk we have in this great University? Take grub, for instance. We must all Grabbe the Hash, whether we Booze or not. Here we have Bacon, but Bye George, only one Bean. We have Coffey and Ice Waters, a Cobb, but no corn, a Brown Henn, a pair of Drakes, a Graham Bunn, a Crabb on a Little Schell, Lamb Chippis, and oh, Shucks, some New Hay for the Lyons, and some Bass to Fry after the Week's Danz.

Then we have professions till you can't rest. Here is a Buttonmaker, a Carpenter, a Swift Mason, a Wise Cooper, but no coop, a Long Fischer without a rod or sinker, a Piper and Major, a Young Duke, an Abbott, and a Barker.

Ah, Fellows, do you actually Gamble and Chase for the Golden Buck, the Nichol, the Farthing, or the Cash itself, and then expect to appreciate one-half the Peck of suggestive names all around you? Don't you recall that Shakespeare said that there were "Crooks in the Running Brooks, Hermans in Stones, and Goodenough in everything?" You should Mix Hohr, should Hunt Keys to the Lively Hart.

Considering the human person itself, we have some of the constituent parts. See the Back, Hand, Arms, Lippes, etc. Ah, the Power, the White Hyde, the Stout Fort of Penn inspiration, the Jasper Love for Bloom of the Best in nature—Oh, Shaw, how Poor! (George, will you kindly draw this Corke? All Wright, here's to you!)

Perhaps you have a Redhed, but we are not so Lawless as to Light on you for that. Such an act would get our Angarola, Dang it! In closing, there comes to our Garrett some memorable stanzas from Longfeller:

Tell me not in Mourning Summers,
Life is Butt an Enger Dean,
For the Shobe is Dedrick that Slonnegers,
And Shims are Noth so awful Green.

Overheard in the Chapel on Registration Day

" . . . Now, Miss Peach, you have registered here for only seven hours, while the required amount is, as you know, fifteen." "No, I don't want Section C, if I can help myself. Er—I just don't want it, that's all." "Here, have you joined the Hospital Association yet?" (Chink, chink, chink.) "I wonder what Trixie Drew is doing behind that prep table. Is she teaching down there now?" "No, I haven't pre-registered, but you see (smiles winningly) I know just what I want to take, Doctor Punk."

"When my dad went to college here, they had prayers here in the Chapel every day." DEAN CLARK ENTERS POLITICS

CRANKS WARD MACHINE IN KANKAKEE.

Dippy Burg Discusses Arkle's Desirability.—Delighted Dean Destined for Delegate.

We are pleased to note that the life aspirations of Dean Clark are slowly coming to a head. (Perhaps for fear of being misunderstood, we should say aspiration are being realized.) The dean is about to enter upon his long-desired field of labor, namely, politics. Among the aldermanic recommendations of the Kankakee Democrat prior to the recent election in that city was the following:

Third ward: Thomas A. Clark, known throughout the county and highly recommended. You

We wish the dean best of success in his new venture, and know that in the last few years he could not have helped GARNERING a few political facts.

DUMFOUNDING REVELATION UNEARTHED!

REVOLTING SKETCH FOUND IN LIBRARY!!

Janitor Sobs as he Reveals All!!!—Unheard-of Conditions Exist!!!!

One of the most startling Illio scoops in years took place November 1, when W. Langhoff, janitor of the Library, broke down and confessed that he had found the accompanying picture in the junior lecture room of the Library.

"I felt it my duty," sobbed Mr. Langhoff, as we pressed his hand in sympathy, "to tell of my discovery, although it is humiliating indeed to admit that this noble building has ever sheltered girls who would knowingly depict such shocking pictures."

At this juncture Mr. Langhoff fainted dead away, but rallied bravely, after a draught of strawberry pop.

"Have you any idea who the artist was?" we asked, trying in vain to hold back the gushing tears that rolled down our cheeks.

But Mr. Langhoff mournfully shook his head, and declared that he would reveal no more. Reluctantly we give to the world the pitiful truth. Read and remember!

SCOTT DELIVERS RE-MARKABLE ADDRESS

TELLS ABOUT ILLINOIS JOURNALISM.

Gives Secret of its Amazing Success.—In Talk before Scoop-Board Editorial Association Frank W. Scott Tells of Underlying Causes of Illinoi Supremacy.

Ladies and Gents:

It gives me ex-cru-ciating pleasure, gents, to be with you today. (Tumultuous applause, and long continued clapping.) I have consented to talk to you today on the subject of "Journalism at Illinois University." (Applause.) As you perhaps already opine, we all have the rag-baby swatted in the snoot when it comes to good old slap-doodle journalism. (Laughs heartily.)

But to return to my subject of journalism at Illinois. I was born, as everybody knows, on November 12, 1877, at Centralia. With such acumen did I pursue my studies at Centralia High School that I could say at graduation what Shakespeare said at the bier of John G. Whittier:

I thank with brief thanksgiving,

Whatever gods may be—

That my life lives forever—

'Um, I don't recall the rest just now, but you see my point, I'm sure. (Deafening applause.)

But to return to my discussion of Illinois journalism. Scarcely had I door at the unsurpassed institution of stuck my bun inside of a class-room learning and neighbor (laughs) when I took the lead in journalism. I became the guiding spirit of that great pipe-organ, the "Illini"; and let me tell you, gents, that so eagerly were my editorials read and preserved that ordinary paper stock would not stand the strain, so I issued my editions on reinforced cardboard. I ask you, gents, as man to man, could I have done more for my subscribers? Again I demand of you, COULD I have done more? (Mighty shouts of no, NO, NO!)

Well, my work on the Illini cheered me up, though my profits WERE so trivial. (Deafening applause.) I found time to run the "Illio," and also wrote autobiographies of Addison, Keats, and Shelley, the last three kings of the House of York. These three autobiographies were published in 1903, by C. M. Parker (applause), the famous publisher of Taylorville, and created such a profound interest that the University adopted them as textbooks.

Gents, I am not so young as I once was. My life is declining into the "sere and yellow leaf," as the poet Riley said. (Great storm of applause.) But let me return to my subject of "Journalism at Illinois." After my graduation, I edited the Chicago "Tribune" a few years, but resigned because I could not conscientiously run advertisements of the two-bit cigars which I knew were no better than the corn-silk perfectos we as boys used to smoke behind the cow-shed.

So I came back to Illinois. (Applause.) The University offered me the position of professor of rhetoric, but I declined, preferring to begin as an assistant in rhetoric. (Applause.) In 1906, then the "Alumni Record" came from the press, my name graced the title page, and I tell you, gents—

(At this point the janitor announced that the hall would have to be closed for the night, and Mr. Scott reluctantly sat down.)

HERRICK HARWOOD IS MAKING GOOD.

Herrick Harwood is getting to the front at the University of Illinois at Champaign. A copy of the Daily Illini, the sprightly paper issued by the students, has been received at this office, and in the list of its staff appears the name of our young friend Herrick as local reporter. A news item in the same paper tells us that he has been elected by the Philomathean literary society as manager of the Star lecture course for next year. This position is one of considerable responsibility, as it devolves upon him to secure the various attractions in the course and to handle the funds of the course. Herrick is a pushing and progressive young man, and we predict that he will make good.

THE LATEST ACQUISITION OF HEROLD W. UNDERHILL IS THE GALLOWAY SCHOLARSHIP.

He won That Honor by his Ready and Fluent Grasp of all Problems in Mathematics—He is the President of the Virginia Club and is Something of an Athletic too—Many Honors are Being Bestowed upon the son of C. E. Underhill of this City.

The Democrat is pleased to publish this week a letter received from the secretary of the University of Illinois, C. N. Barrett, telling of the late achievements of Herold Underhill, son of Attorney and Mrs. C. E. Underhill of this place.

Champaign, Ill., January 28, 1911.
Editor Onawa Weekly Democrat,
Onawa, Monona County, Iowa.

Dear Sir: In consistency with a well formed policy, we take pleasure in informing you, and we hope your readers, of the achievements of the son of one of your citizens, Mr. C. E. Underhill. The latest acquisition of Herold Wertz Underhill is the Galloway Scholarship. He has won this well deserved honor from a host of competitors through his diligence and perseverance amid trying and discouraging situations.

He is also Senior Sargeant Color Bearer in the University cadet corps. He won this coveted honor from fifteen hundred members of the regiment. He plays an important part in student, in town politics and through his efforts, along with several others succeeded in defeating the Commission Form of Government Question at a recent election held in Champaign. He has been president of the Vignolia Club of Architecture since he has attended the University. He takes an active interest in athletics and recently lowered the record on hurdling by two-fifths of a second. The loyal "Walking Club" of which he is a member intends in the near future to lower the walking record to Chicago, a distance of a little over a hundred miles.

CAPER-JUICE RESPONSIBLE FOR ILLINOIS VICTORY

GOPHERS' HOLE PLUGGED BY HILARIOUS DEBATERS.

Chawles Pearce There with the Mountain Dew,—Searle, Zearing, and Walter Quat the Real Goods.

Was it brains or Pearce's tonic that won the Illinois-Minnesota debate? Of course the Orange and Blue team had plenty of brains, but why was it that Mister Chawles Pearce, the Illinois coach, pressed the button for a bell-hop shortly before the big fight?

Of course the men themselves do not know, and Chawles Chester himself is not quite sure of the situation now. It has seeped out, though, from the most exclusive debating circles that last fall when the team went to Minnesota the long trip got the boys' pep. Before the whirligig forensic contest, Searle, Walter, and Zearing had a grouch on in their rooms at the Kaiserhof. To have the debaters meet the Gophers in that dejected mood would mean sure defeat.

Coach Pearce became nervous and hot-footed it up and down the corridors until a happy thought struck him. He punched the button, left the room with a servant and soon returned with four little glasses. Now, the boys did not know what this all meant; it didn't look like soda water, ginger ale or a banana-split. No one knew whether it was a high-ball or not, but since it would be naughty for debaters to drink high-balls, the refreshment undoubtedly was some mineral water.

If it was so, it was the right kind, for immediately afterward, while the team was on the way to the hall, Zearing ejaculated, "By golly, fellows, I believe we've got them licked to a frazzle." "So do I, I feel just boss," chipped in little Johnny Searle. Poor Chesley Walter, though, was not so optimistic.

Coach Pearce had not come out of it yet, either. When the debate began, Zearing and Searle tore into the enemy's territory with mighty strides; but not until the rebuttal did Chesley get his inspiration. Then his brain began to work like a well-oiled machine. With doubly accelerated power, he hurled thunder-bolt after thunder-bolt into the Swedes' camp, and the debate was won.

Then it was that Chawles Chester got active. With a wide flourish of his arms, and a haw-haw-haw-haw-haw, he shouted, "Why, boys, they didn't know a damn thing. Let's go back to the Kaiserhof right away."

"I make use of my whiskers in catching bugs," says the doctor. "As you know, many rare insects are attracted by the nest-like appearance of a man's beard, and will eagerly repair thereto in countless thousands. If they should seem a little shy at first, anoint the region slightly with corn syrup, or kiss the cook a few times."

RELATES EXPERIENCES AT CHAMPAIGN

Those who know, say the Joliet girls made an ideal showing during the activities of the week-end at the State University down at Champaign. There is every reason to believe that they did, too, for without exception some of the prettiest girls that have been graduated from Joliet's High school are now enrolled at Champaign.

First of all there is Miss Grace Bacon, who is tall and willowy and who possesses a crowning feature in a wealth of beautiful light hair. Miss Marjorie Shuts is a brunette of decidedly opposite type and as fair to gaze upon as Miss Bacon. As all of these girls know how to wear their clothes to good advantage it is always an easy matter for them to appear at their very best.

Clothes made only a very little difference on the May Pole and Circus day, however, for one of the girls who attended said, "Just think there were 5,000 spectators at May Pole twining and as the circus came immediately after at the Auditorium 5,000 people endeavored to squeeze themselves into a building whose seating capacity is limited to 2,500. But, believe me, I got in and had a good seat too, and managed to hold onto my box of fudges, which I ate all myself, for, you see, I lost everybody I ever knew, trying to get a place where I could see everything. It's funny now, but it was rather serious then 'cause I tore my shirtwaist and lost my silver mesh purse, but I got a seat and that made up for all that was found wanting, after the performance. It was a lot of fun, too, and I am mighty glad that my sister is a sorority girl and I am going again next year."

—Joliet Daily Republican.

All Hail Sorority's Power

SORORITIES ARE WARNED

Further Participation of Greek Societies in Athletic Elections At U. of I. is Barred.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 29.—(Special).—Participation in athletic team elections by senior sororities seeking glory will be a thing of the past at the university of Illinois. Told plainly by such men as Director of Athletic Huff, head coach Arthur Hall, Dean of Men Clark and Prof. G. A. Goodenough that such interference meant future disruption members of the organization shield and trident and Phoenix virtually promised to be good. They were dined by Director Huff tonight with only a few other guests. The contretemps over the selection of a 1911 football captain was the immediate cause leading to the dinner, but there were other reasons. Only last spring it is said that Senior Sorority influence played a powerful part in the election of a track captain. Convinced that their prestige had been seriously injured and realizing finally that politics had no part in team elections all undergraduates seemed eager to patch things up. As a result is believed there will be an amicable settlement of the football team's difficulty.

CHAWNCEY BALDWIN CHAMPIONS BUSTLES

PERSONALLY PREFERS EXCELSIOR ARTICLE.

Points with Pride to Dutch Sand-Bags.
—Hurls Defiance at Human Wasps.

Ed Chawncey Baldwin, Ph. D., who owns more brands of shrieking neckties and horse-blanket waistcoats than any other man in the faculty, again turns on the gas and comes forward with a light bustle doctrine.

Speaking of the Dutch, Chawncey wags his jaw thus:

"Now, the Dutch wear sand-bags about their hips so as to give that fetching broad appearance when viewed from behind. Now, I should say that the bustles are a good thing for thin and slight people. I, however, am in favor of the excelsior or woven-wire bustle apparatus."

Dean Greene Should Whisker Up

The wife of one of the legislators had strayed from the visiting delegation, and was completely addled.

"Where am I," she moaned.

Enter Dean Greene.

"Let me assist you to the Woman's Building, madam," said the gallant dean.

And he did so. Then he departed.

THE KITTENS.

Oh, you silly girls! If you must dent your physiogs, use buttons from freshman caps. For an unusual chic effect, wear tassels from your hats, and large two-inch bands of tin-looking junk around your hair at the dances.

Pathetic, but Plausible

Professor Dietrich, the noted authority on razorback hogs, could, it is said, by dieting the football team, develop a bunch of kickers. Nay, Bill, you would turn out a passel of rooters—a sorry lot, with nothing to root for.

DEAR MISS JABBEY:

I have a very perplexing question to ask you, dear Miss Jabbey—one which has troubled me since last fall. I turned down all the sororities that bid me, saying I could have a better time outside. Now, however, I have grown tired of having one chump after another tagging after me. They take me to dances, and are all so clumsy, except one dear little Betta Taka Pi. What shall I do?

Yours perplexedly,

DEAR MISS JABBEY:

Oh, Miss Jabbey, I'm so up in the air. To be frank with you, I'm in love with two girls—maybe five—and I know they all adore me, but I can't decide which to take. Don't let the girls string you, my dear Handsome, or play with your affections. Remember that it is better to serve as a dance ticket than as a meal ticket. Get me?

Watch Repairing — and — Jewelry Trade

Are the Two Things We Conscientiously Solicit

We anticipate and appreciate your trade by offering you a class of goods in watches, diamonds, jewelry, pottery, etc., that cannot be excelled, even by city jewelers.

We make every price reasonable and the same to you all. Give us your trade; then tell your friends.

Don't forget you get a square deal each time when it comes to watch and jewelry repairing.

GROCERIES

WE employ reliable men to sell our high grade groceries direct to farmers and other large consumers.

We carry all grades and kinds of reliable groceries. Our top grades are a revelation to people who buy through the average store or mail order houses.

Our prices are a big inducement.

Salesmen make big money and have no investment.

Customers take no risk because we allow the bank to hold the money 5 days so that the goods can be examined and tested before the money is sent to us.

This house has made and is making a more rapid growth than any other concern of its kind because of the quality of the goods shipped, prices and square dealing with customers.

TAILOR

Springfield, Illinois

Charles E. Williams
Representative

A GOOD chef will provide an "acid" coffee to serve with cream for breakfast and a "sweet" coffee for your dinner demi tasse. How many cooks will know enough to make that fine distinction?

In tailors there is just as great a difference. A good tailor—a real tailor—not only takes your measure—he sizes you up. If your chef has been too kind to you he conceals that fact to a great extent—he changes the "frontage" in a way that makes you not only look "chesty" but gives you good reason to feel "chesty".

In other words, a real tailor can make you feel well-dressed among good dressers. If you have such a tailor, be thankful and loyal. If not, let me make you just one suit—you won't regret it. I want to show you what a real tailor can do.
